

Julian Barrera

Winter wonderland but in the Sonoran desert.

When fall leaves

Winter comes

Even though it does not snow

But the sun shines with a little glow

Cool breeze in the air

And feels nice in your hair

While some are asleep

Waiting for the heat

Others are awake

Waiting for their prey

At Least to eat for the day

Javelina still awake

Just for some warmth

It's not time for the flowers to bloom

But they're still pretty cool

You might be on your winter break

Just laying on your bed

Look outside

See all the animals

They are waiting for spring

Just like you

But maybe

When spring comes

You can smell all the flowers you want

But for now just wait

And have a nice day.